

MILTON KEYNES: City of Firsts!

8 Wolverton – world's first railway town

Milton Keynes incorporates the world's first large-scale, purpose-built new town – Wolverton Railway Town, 1839

Even before Saltaire (1853) and Bourneville (1895), Wolverton was built by the London and North Western Railway Company who 'really cared for the hundreds employed and the thousands who depended for their health, education and even places of worship'.

Sir Frank Markham, local historian, 1970
