

Influencing and supporting others

Local organisations have been inspired or nurtured by Inter-Action MK throughout its history.

Community Radio operation CRMK was based at The Old Rectory for a number of years.

The Living Archive arose from early collaborations between Roger Kitchen, when he was Inter-Action MK's Director, and Roy Nevitt of Stantonbury Campus.

Lantern festivals have influenced others around Milton Keynes where various communities now enjoy annual lantern parades.

Some members of the Word in Edgeways group spent time here working and volunteering on many projects.

Festive Road was formed by artists who had worked with Inter-Action MK on carnival arts at events such as the West Bletchley Carnival.
